Somebody's Welcome to These Clothes

Some little boys never grow out of their clothes. They wear out their clothes. Not so Russell, 5, and Dusty, 3, sons of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Johnson, 616 Esquimalt road. They have all sorts of clothes—some nearly new—shirts, trousers, coats, pyjamas, which they want to give to other little boys about a year younger or smaller than themselves. "If we could just find someone who needs them," their mother, Hazel, told The Daily Colonist, "we'd all be very happy."

Arabs Set For War

DAMASCUS, Syria (UP)—The commander of the combined Egyptian-Syrian military force said Tuesday the two Arab nations are prepared to wage a "war of liberation" against Israel if public opinion demands it.

Spider's Cronies Jailed

LONDON (Reuters)—A London detective and two other men were sentenced to jail Tuesday for faking evidence in a vain bid to clear a burglar.

Detective-sergeant James Robertson, 40, and Ben Canter, 49, a lawyer, got two years each. The third man, Morris (Spider) Page, 38, described by the judge, Lord Chief Justice Goddard, as "just a common crook," was given a 15-month term.

They were said to have cooked up a defence for a Maltese, Joseph Grech, who was found with a key to burgled premises.

Robertson was said to have been bribed to lend Canter and Page the key so that they could open a door which it would open.

Grech was in fact jailed but his statements in prison sparked off new inquiries.

JERUSALEM (CP)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion Tuesday accused Britain and Russia of pursuing policies "liable to bring about the destruction of the state of Israel."

He claimed in parliament that arms supplied to Egypt by Britain and Russia "will be used only against Israel," and said Egypt's goal is "the annihilation of Israel."

"Both Britain and the Soviet Union are aware of Prime Minister Nasser's political aims," he said.

Ben-Gurion, premier and defence minister, made his statement in reply to a motion by Communist party leader Shmuel Mikunis, who asked for a foreign affairs debate in protest against an interview given by the premier last week to the London Observer correspondent.

In the interview, Israel's elder statesman was quoted as sharply criticizing the Middle East policy of the Kremlin and the British foreign office.

Ben-Gurion, repeating his opinion expressed then, Tuesday added:

"Anyone who tries to justify arms supply to Egypt by any means whatsoever is the servant of a foreign power hostile to Israel."

The dispatch says the Cairo talks have reached a stage where Egypt, and probably Lebanon and Iraq, "are considering negotiations without demanding a prior condition."

The condition had been that Israel implement the United Nations resolutions on partition and the right of Palestine Arab refugees to choose either repatriation to their former homes now in Israel territory or compensation.

The decision to make the increase is the direct result of continually rising production costs and the recent increase in the price of newsprint.

Street sale boys will benefit from the new price. (Mail rates are also affected and a new schedule of rates will be found on page 5.)

Effective Thursday, December 1, the street sale and news dealer price of The Daily Colonist will be increased from seven cents to 10 cents on weekdays and from 10 cents to 14 cents on Sundays.

The carrier delivery price to subscribers in the city will not be changed. It remains at $1.50 per month.

Triplets Feared Dead

Children Home for Lunch Killed When Jet Crashes into Houses

Toll May Reach 15 At Alaska Air Base

EIELSON AIR FORCE BASE, Alaska (UP)—At least nine, and possibly 15, persons—most of them women and children—were killed Tuesday when an F-84F Thunderjet howled into a row of family dwellings here and exploded. Many children were home from school for lunch when disaster struck.

Maj. John Orr, public information officer, said nine bodies had been removed from the ruins of six apartment buildings struck by the plane shortly before 1 p.m.

"The death toll could go as high as 15 persons. That is our original estimate of the dead," Orr said.

The body of the pilot was among those recovered from one of the wrecked and burned apartment buildings. No accurate count of the injured could be made because they had been dispersed to several hospitals.

The pilot was identified as 1st Lt. Alfred E. Ponder, 28, of Monticello, Miss. The other dead are believed to be civilians, including triplets born last year.

The triplets were listed among the missing and were known to be in the front room of one of the houses when the plane, roaring along at 150 miles an hour after a takeoff, struck that section of the housing unit.

Their parents are believed to be Sgt. and Mrs. William Fimple, both listed among the injured.

"Our best estimate of the injured," Orr said, "is another eight to 10 persons."

The plane had just taken off when it veered suddenly due to a control failure, skidded over base headquarters and slammed into the housing project. It tore through one eight-family unit, ripping it from one end to the other. There was an explosion and fire.

Fred A. Sorri, a civilian plumber who had just finished an installation in one of the buildings shattered by the plane, said the plane "bounced off the roofs of two buildings, setting them afire, and then plunged right through one structure."

"It literally knocked four apartments right out of the building."

"There were bathtubs and plumbing fixtures resting a half block away with the ruins of the jet aircraft."

An enlisted man, not identified by the air force, told Orr:

"The plane came very low, right over the headquarters building where I was working. We knew it was in trouble. You could tell by the way it sounded."

"We saw a big puff of smoke and flame. Then the whole headquarters building shook, following a tremendous explosion."

"Flames and smoke were pouring out of the windows and doors of the buildings hit by the plane. Wreckage was scattered all around."

It was a bitterly cold day—28 below zero.

Firemen evacuated the survivors and as many personal belongings as possible before the fire got out of control. Survivors, mostly women and children, stood by weeping as firemen fought to control the fire. The flames were extinguished at 4 p.m.

ALL-NIGHT SEARCH

The mopping-up and search of the buildings was expected to continue through the night.

Sorri also told about finding a sewing machine about 400 feet from one of the buildings. "It was in one of the apartments where I worked yesterday," he said. "There was a woman and her three daughters in the apartment. I don't know about them today."

A helicopter shuttle service was set up between Eielson and Ladd air force base to take the injured to hospitals.

World's End Possible Says Campney

VANCOUVER (CP)—The hydrogen bomb and long-range bombing plane have brought on the possibility that a third world war could mean world destruction.

Defence Minister Ralph Campney told a Liberal rally here Tuesday night.

Faure Pulls Switch, Election Possible

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure lost a confidence vote in the National Assembly Tuesday night. But instead of resigning, as is customary, his cabinet is considering dissolving the assembly. This would make new elections necessary.

A final decision on resignation or dissolution was put over until a cabinet meeting today.

Unofficial reports following a meeting of Faure's ministers Tuesday night said a majority favored dissolution.

Faure has been campaigning for early elections.

Dissolution of the assembly is possible under a constitutional provision that has never been applicable in any of France's previous post-war governments.

Comet III Pleases BOAC

LONDON (AP)—A British jet airliner, the Comet III, made a test flight of 3,300 miles in seven hours, 22 minutes preparatory to a Friday morning takeoff for Australia, it was announced Tuesday.

Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of British Overseas Airways Corporation, said the test flight was "further vindication of our faith in the Comet IV of which we have some 20 aircraft on order."

BOAC, which pioneered with the ill-fated Comet I, plans to put the Comet IV—an advanced version of the Comet III—into fleet operation in 1958.

"They will then once again put Britain in the lead in jet-propelled civil aviation," Thomas said.

Temperance Rally Told

Nation's Liquor Laws 'Sabotaged'

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Temperance Federation resolved Tuesday to ask the United States Federal Communications Commission to put an end to the "sabotaging of Canadian anti-liquor advertising laws by beercasts on Buffalo television and radio stations."

The federation, here for its annual meeting, adopted a suggestion by a U.S. temperance advocate, Dr. Caradine Hooton of Washington, D.C., that it help him do something about the problem.

It also heard a claim by Mrs. Ross Eaton of Sackville, N.B., that members of some Baptist women's groups are among the 64 per cent of Canadian women who drink.

Mrs. Eaton, wife of a Baptist minister, said: "I have never heard that members of our missionary societies are drinking. I was told by one friend that they are even giving cocktail parties."

Dr. Hooton, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance in the U.S., said Monday night he is shocked to think that Ontario's "fine laws" on liquor and beer advertising are being weakened by programs originating in U.S. radio and television stations.

Ontario legislation permits beer and liquor manufacturers to place only institutional-type

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL

Huge Fund Raised

Churchill at 81 Hears Happy News

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill, 81 today, received the news Tuesday night that a special birthday presentation fund subscribed in his honor from all parts of the world has reached a total of £29,175.

More than 300,000 people contributed.

The fund was opened before his 80th birthday. A year ago, as part of the world celebrations of this event, Churchill received "an interim payment" of £150,000.

The statesman made it known that he proposed to devote the fortune subscribed to starting a charitable trust, though part of the money will go to endowing his country home, Chartwell, in Kent.

Churchill is planning to spend today quietly with only a small family luncheon party to mark the occasion.

But around his household, there was a scene of bustle Tuesday. There was a constant succession of delivery trucks bringing presents from numerous countries.

Postmen and telegraph messengers plied to and from his home in fashionable Hyde Park Gate with loads of letters, cards and greetings telegrams.

And in Soho, London's "Latin Quarter," a famous pastry cook "unveiled" his latest creation in the series of Churchill birthday cakes.

The cake, work of Christopher Florin, who has made this special confection for Churchill birthdays for years past, stands about two feet high and weighs about 25 pounds.

He had designed a completely different cake, and scrapped it on the news last week that Churchill had received the freedom of Harrow, site of the famous school where the former prime minister received his early education.

Tuesday night's announcement of the total was made by Edward Maclure, chairman of the fund. He added that a book containing the names of all contributors shortly will be presented to Churchill.

Churchill is planning to spend today quietly with only a small family luncheon party to mark the occasion.

Mr. Pickersgill said then: "There are many Canadians who seem to think we do not have a distinctive flag of our own at the present time. That is not true."

He said that was settled by the order-in-council passed by the federal cabinet Sept. 5, 1945.

"This order provides that, until such time as action is taken by Parliament for the formal adoption of a national flag, it is desirable to remove any doubt as to the propriety of flying the Canadian Red Ensign wherever place and occasion may make it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag."

Teacher Kept In By Uncle

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Abraham Kristavim, under-secretary in the interior ministry during the Peron regime, had a unique method of raising his niece's marks in school. He ordered her teacher arrested.

This came to light Tuesday when a judge of the new Argentine provisional government ordered Kristavim tried for "illegal privation of freedom." Kristavim now is believed to be in Havana.

Insanity Awaits One in 12

CALGARY (CP)—One of every 12 children born this year will end up in a mental institution if the present trend continues, says Dr. S. R. Laycock, Canadian educationalist and psychologist and former dean of education of the University of Saskatchewan.

In an interview here today Dr. Laycock said that "in the next 50 years a higher degree of emotional sturdiness will be needed in people than at any time in history."

"The tempo of change will be much greater and it's going to take a person with a great deal of emotional stability to handle the world."

Dr. Laycock said the real key to developing stable persons is a "better development of homes, home and school relationships and child teaching."

Jekyll-Hyde Tag Put On Boxer

NEW YORK (AP)—The $100,000 assault-damage suit against British boxer Randy Turpin went to trial Tuesday, and the former world middleweight champion was labelled a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" type.

The description came from J. Roland Sala, lawyer for Ade Daniels.

The boxer's lawyer, Sol Strauss, entered a general denial.

Miss Daniels claims Turpin overpowered her "by his superior physical and violent assaults." On the night he lost to Carl (Bobo) Olson two years ago, she says, he hit her because she refused his demands.

Cabinet Resigns

ANKARA (AP)—The entire 16-member cabinet of Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes resigned Tuesday night during an uproarious meeting of Menderes' Democratic party.

Menderes himself did not resign and at the end of the seven-hour meeting was given a vote of confidence.

Havoc in Times Square

Fire Test Roaring Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Fireman Henry Gartland, testing a Christmas window display in a Times Square tavern, proved beyond doubt Tuesday that the stuff it was made of would burn.

The results of Gartland's simple match test:

The bar and grill was gutted, with damage estimated at $30,000.

A sidewalk newsstand owned by a blind operator lost most of its stock in the blaze.

The three-story building was evacuated. Traffic was re-routed on busy 6th street. Acid smoke whipped across Times Square.

Battalion chief Raymond J. Lustwig and a fireman were seriously injured when a water-weakened ceiling fell on their heads after the display window blazed up.

Chief fire marshal Martin Scott said Gartland conducted the "usual inspection, routine."

Gartland waddled up part of the Christmas decoration, given to the tavern by a liquor company, lit it with a match and then snuffed it out, he thought.

As he walked away the whole ceiling fell on their heads after the display window blazed up.

Army May Be Called Against IRA Bandits

BELFAST (Reuters)—Lord the I.R.A., which it had out of Northern Ireland, declared "I want to assure these black Tuesday night that he will call guards that we in this country in the army if necessary to are not going to be intimidated police the border with the Irish Republic."

He was addressing parliament on an armed attack carried out last Saturday on a border police station at Roslea by members of a splinter group of the underground Irish Republican Army. The I.R.A. is pledged to incorporate Northern Ireland, which remains linked to the British crown, into the Republic of Ireland.

Brookborough criticized the Irish Republic for failing to suppress "blackguards and scoundrels of this kind, prepared to commit murder, disturb the peace and create antagonism and hatred."

He said it is unbelievable that the Republic of Ireland is afraid "afraid, I think, is the right word" to take action against

Barn-Grade Committee Appointed

Appointment of a nine-man committee to review barn grading regulations as recommended by the Clyne milk report was announced Tuesday by Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan. "It is hoped the committee will be able to complete a review of the regulations in one day so their recommendations can be given immediate consideration by the government," the minister said.

Chairman of the committee—meeting in Vancouver today—will be Dr. Duncan McKenzie, assistant dean of the faculty of agriculture at UBC. Other members are John M. Kirkness, Chilliwack; Pat Reid, Dewdney; Murray Davis, Ladner; and Archie Stevenson, of Duncan, all dairy farmers; Dr. J. A. Taylor, dairy provincial health officer; H. L. Bryson, chief food and drug inspector, Vancouver; Dr. B. Kidd, assistant livestock commissioner of the agriculture department; and George Patch, dairy inspector for the department.

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a healing substance with the amazing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, the gently relieving pain, actual cure or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this movement was maintained in the weeks doctors' observations continued over a period of months.

In fact, results were so thorough sufferers were able to make such amazing statements as "Files have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (D-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Stop Arms Race Of Egypt-Israel, St. Laurent Asked

OTTAWA (BCP)—On the eve of Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett's visit to Ottawa, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent has received an open letter urging him to help stop the "armament race between Egypt and Israel."

The Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada combined to send the letter to Mr. St. Laurent who will meet Sharett here tomorrow. The Israeli premier also will confer with External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson.

Sharett, who scheduled a day's visit to Montreal before coming here, is expected to request arms aid for his country. President Claude Jodoin of the TLC and CCL secretary-treasurer Donald Macdonald signed the letter from the two labor organizations which represent more than 1,000,000 Canadian workers.

"The TLC and CCL are profoundly disturbed about the developing situation in the Near and Middle East as a result of the shipments of arms by the Soviet bloc to Egypt," they said.

"The trade union movement of Canada is unalterably opposed to any aggravation of existing international tensions. A conflict in one part of the world can easily turn into another world holocaust."

"The TLC and CCL have worked in close collaboration with the democratic trade union movement of Israel, the Histadrut, through the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions."

"The labor movement of Canada looks upon its sister organization in Israel as a champion of democratic principles and an island of free trade unionists in that part of the world."

"An armament race set in motion by the Soviet bloc in the Near and Middle East would be a tragedy. What is urgently required at the present time is rather negotiation between Israel and its Arab neighbors."

"The labor movement in Canada is not anti-Arab. On the contrary, it has consistently supported

Salesman, Doctor At $32,000 Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—A seed salesman decided $32,000 was enough and took it Tuesday night on "the $64,000 question." And a woman psychologist jabbed her way to the $32,000 level with her knowledge of boxing.

Steven Frolich, 39, a Czech immigrant now in the seed business in Princeton, N.J., declined to risk his winnings on the CBS radio-TV show. He stopped one rung short of the top money. His questions dealt with American history.

Dr. Joyce Brothers, New York City psychologist, answered the question that won her $32,000. She has until next week to decide whether to try for the $64,000.

She replied correctly that New Orleans was the site of two world championships and one American title fight in three days, back in 1892.

Depends on Agreement

No Decision Reached by U.S. On Halt to Nuclear Testing

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—State Secretary Dulles said today the United States has for months been considering the question of halting tests of nuclear weapons but has not come to a conclusion.

He was commenting at a press conference on a Moscow radio report that Russia is ready to stop testing nuclear weapons now if Britain and the United States would do the same.

Dulles said the government has been considering the idea in the light of U.S. interest in testing peace and freedom in the world but had not yet made up its mind. Another question was whether it could depend on any agreement to cease such tests.

On the question of Germany, Dulles indicated he has not given up hope of reunification despite the failure of the Big Four foreign ministers to reach agreement in Geneva. He pointed to the case of Austria which finally received its freedom after seven years of occupation by the West and the Soviet Union.

Review of Capital Needs

THE review of Victoria's capital needs in the next 25 years presented before the Gordon commission this week by City Manager Wyatt was thoughtfully done. There was nothing strained or overplayed in the estimate of some $21,705,000 which may be required through the period for capital works on the city's main plant and in the extension of necessary civic services. That estimate, large as the sum is, seems well based and to that extent gives forewarning of a phase of the City's operation that is too often neglected. The capital works program outlined in the city manager's brief might safely be regarded as the minimum probable requirements during the period.

This points up the vital need, stressed in every serious recent study of Victoria's affairs that has been undertaken, of definite and progressive civic planning for the future. It may also involve legislative permission respecting the handling of the City's debt, its borrowing powers and its credit. The refunding statutes of the Thirties were concerned with the debt situation which existed then. Their provisions, however, cast forward to the year 1972. Before this, it seems evident, the City may require permission to borrow reasonable sums for essential capital works, if plant and services are to be kept up to standard and not let deteriorate.

The encouraging factor is that the City's debenture debt no longer rests on the population of the smaller community between 1934 and 1937, but on a much broader basis. It is inherent in Mr. C. C. Wyatt's brief that this trend may continue, bringing with it both the necessity for action on capital works and with that a greater ability to pay for such programs. It is also true, however, that if Victoria's population were to remain static in the period (which is unlikely) today's plant would have to be kept up by renewals, replacements and restoration of standards permitted to lapse through the years. Roads, sewers, surface drains, high-pressure fire mains and the like all require renewals in time. It is the extension of such assets to serve increasing populations which is likely to prove costly, and the more so by reason of any neglect.

Of the unsolved problems facing Victoria now and for the immediate future, the question of capital works is one of the most complex. A policy of putting off attempted solution has led to drifting, and where physical plant is concerned that can have costly results when these problems have to be taken in hand. The crucial need in City affairs now is a progressive attitude, one which gets first things done.

Safe Driving Day Tomorrow

TOMORROW will be Safe Driving Day all over the North American continent. This idea of setting aside one day of the 365 for emphasis on personal and public safety in traffic has been widely publicized throughout Canada and the United States, and all people who will be out of doors tomorrow should understand what is expected of them: common-sense alertness and common courtesy. It is a modest request—that people should avoid killing and maiming one another for one whole day. Pedestrians will have an equal share in this effort, for it is to be Safe Walking as well as Safe Driving Day.

In this country the "day" is being sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, aided by governments at all levels and public-spirited organizations everywhere. The purpose is to demonstrate that traffic accidents can be reduced materially when motorists drive safely and pedestrians walk safely. Statistics afford ample proof of the necessity for special endeavors to awaken the public to the perils of traffic. In Canada last year 2,586 persons were killed and 58,738 persons injured in highway and city accidents. Of those injured, several thousand were disabled totally and permanently. The economic loss to Canada has been estimated for 1954 at $100,000,000—almost five times as great as the loss through fire damage.

This terrible record of death, suffering and destruction can be lowered only by individual consciousness and co-operation. It is hoped that the results of S-D Day tomorrow will show, when assessed against the daily accident average for the country and each community, that motorists and pedestrians can substantially reduce if not eliminate traffic accidents by their own actions.

Special "weeks" and "days" to emphasize this or that tend to be heavily overdone on this continent; but a day devoted to saving life and averting misery is one which everyone should observe. The experience thus gained through consciously obeying the simple rules on the streets and highways should help to impress on all, whether driving or walking, how easy it really is to journey safely.

As Unscrupulous as Ever

THE Soviet party chief, Mr. Khrushchev, is rude, crude and not very truthful. He said in Bombay last week that the English, French and Americans started the Second World War by sending Hitler's troops against Russia, a distortion of fact which a London paper rightly condemned as a "whopping lie." He told Mr. Lester Pearson when the Canadian minister visited Moscow recently that Canada could expect no geographic immunity in another war, which was a warning as blunt as could be.

This kind of diplomacy is the antithesis of the Geneva smile, which never should have deceived the West in any case and is now an unpleasant grimace. Grace is not a Khrushchevian virtue. While in Bombay the Soviet leader offended an audience waiting to enjoy a cultural program by launching into an hour-long political diatribe that betrayed the hospitality shown him. He apologized later by saying that "speakers are like drunkards and they do not know how long they are talking," an analogy of his own choosing.

Mr. Khrushchev may not know how long he talks but he makes no bones about what he says. He told Mr. Pearson further, and quite plainly, that he was determined to destroy the NATO alliance. These things put together make it evident at least that the West should know exactly where it stands in relation to Soviet policy. Under Mr. Khrushchev the latter will be tough, unyielding and as usual unscrupulous.

There is no room for wishful thinking on the part of the West. Mr. Pearson himself underlines this when he in turn warns that while he believes the Kremlin leaders do not want another global war the peaceful co-existence they intend is competitive and played only according to their own rules. They seek to gain by tactics that "divide, weaken and destroy, whether by threat or blandishment."

There is thus no alternative for the West but a vigilant program of defensive measures, no matter how long it lasts. The West must be prepared to outlast Mr. Khrushchev and the threat that his regime presents to the free world. For all his crudeness the Soviet chief will have performed a service if his blunt statements cause the scales to drop from Western eyes. The motto must still be: on guard.

Interpreting the News

New Type of Warfare

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

ONE of the questions American foreign policy makers will have to answer soon is how the United States can get the initiative in the new type of warfare for which Russia laid the groundwork with her late-lamented "co-operation" campaign.

State Secretary Dulles hit close to the problem but not the answer Tuesday when he said that if the United States tried to match every offer of economic aid made by Russia to Asia the Soviets could, without expense to themselves, jockey the U.S. into ruinous expenditures.

Not often have students of the East-West conflict been as united in their estimates as they are since the failure of the Geneva conference. They believe that Russia is set for a long-range campaign of economic and political infiltration along the line of the Communist arms deal and offer of economic aid to Egypt.

Some, including State department experts, think the United States will have to shift its emphasis accordingly. Many believe that the United States should take the initiative instead of letting Russia make the gestures while the United States eventually foots the bills, as promises to be the case in the construction of a big dam for Egypt.

Hardly any of the students believe the Washington administration, however hard pressed to balance the budget and offer tax reductions before next year's presidential election campaign, will be able to continue its policy of reducing the foreign aid program.

So far, Russia has given no sign that her new emphasis on peaceful infiltration of Asia is to be accompanied by any significant relaxation of the military preparedness with which she backs up her diplomatic program. Until there is some such sign, there can be little hope of military savings for the U.S. sufficient to balance the economic aid program.

If a sensible, not-too-straining aid program can be devised, designed to give underdeveloped peoples time to work out their own political systems to fit their own cultures, with general world welfare as the obvious objective, then the United States will have a chance of winning this new war.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A GENTLEMAN was criticizing a lady the other day for criticizing the CPR service and in truth he was way off the beam. The lady in question had no complaint to make of the CPR service; her lament was that in her land the service had stopped!

A much different story indeed. The aforesaid gentleman's remarks were interesting; they disclose the antisocial workings of our North American minds.

We have grown so hygienic we should travel wrapped in cellophane. Our specific traveler went to Scotland and found the trains dirty, the food appalling, hotels rooms without bath, and he went on a boat and what a tub!

A dreadful experience for a luxury-loving North American. Pity when we travel we can't take Canada with us. Perhaps we should stay at home.

It would be much better, methinks, all the way round.

It is true some British trains are shabby by our chromium standards. Two years ago this writer sat in a railway dining car over there and the tablecloth was stained and soiled, in sad contrast to the CPR extravaganza that gives every diner a fresh cloth.

But he walked to the diner from a compartment as immaculate and modern as any on a CPR train. And at bedtime a porter volunteered to bring him tea and biscuits on awakening next morning, which is more than any CPR porter ever did.

Perhaps it's a matter of trains. And where and how one travels. Conceivably, also, our own trains stop at stations at ghastly early hours, and every hotel room in the country doesn't have a private bath.

I think myself the British could tidy up a lot of things. Not for the tourist, nor for themselves. Countries belong to the people who live in them.

But it's important to remember that different peoples may have different sets of values.

As well as a Briton coming to Victoria and bemoaning the prevalence of hamburgers and the lack of legitimate theatres as a Victorian bemoaning the prevalence of shabby trains and the lack of central heating in Britain.

One could cite reasons which at least partially explain Britain's shabbiness, but any intelligent person should be able to figure them out for himself.

But what is the purpose of travel if the traveler is obsessed with his own creature comforts all the time. Every incident should be an adventure, relished for what it is and stored for future recollection.

Fancy the joy of telling your grandchildren that one day you went on a boat and lo! it was an old tub. What a hero you'd be to them!

We are innocents abroad if, going from this country, we expect the plush standards of living that we enjoy here; the deodorized cellophane civilization that is fast making us as soft as butter. Only across the line, in the U.S.A., can our materialistic luxuries be duplicated.

If our reaction to an odyssey to Britain or Europe is to complain only of minor discomforts then our perspective shrinks to the size of a pea.

And we are condemned out of our own mouths.

New Impetus in West Germany

By O. M. ANDERSON, from Bonn

A FATEFUL new factor in East-West relations will come into being next year—the new German armed forces.

All indications in Bonn point to the rapid build-up of these forces. In fact West German officials already anticipate cries of alarm abroad over a "rebirth of German militarism."

For it is likely that the speed with which the 500,000-man force is created will generate shock and dismay in many quarters. The reason for the West German about-face on the hitherto snail-paced rearmament is entirely political.

The Geneva foreign ministers' conference convinced West German leaders that the Germans can never hope to be treated as a true equal by the West until they can back up their diplomacy with powerful armed forces.

A West Germany with powerful armed forces constituting the very backbone of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will warrant vastly more considerate treatment from the West than a West Germany unarmed and uncertain of its future policy.

Bonn leaders feel that their government has taken a back seat at four-power meetings long enough. There is deep dissatisfaction over the failure of the recent Geneva conference and over the alleged Western failure to pay greater heed to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's emissaries to it.

There is mortal fear in West Germany that the West will lose interest in pressing the German unity demand on Russia. It is clear to the Germans that the Soviets will free East Germany only under pressure. A re-armed and militarily powerful Germany plainly will be able to bring more pressure on the West and hence on the Soviets than the present unarmed state.

At this stage there is nothing sinister in the German switch to renewed emphasis on rearmament. There has been considerable restiveness in the West over the dawdling by the Germans on rearmament. NATO has been prodding the Adenauer government to get moving.

However, rearmament and German domestic politics are interwoven. There is apprehension that pell-mell rearmament may play into the hands of extremists. This is an old fear on the part of many Germans, true, but it has been revived by the dead end on German unity reached at Geneva.

Moreover, the German military build-up has taken a turn disconcerting to many Germans. It has been decided to use the West German border police as the nucleus of the new army.

It long has been suspected by foreign observers that this is what the Bonn military planners have had in mind. However, until recently Defence Minister Theodor Blank has continued to insist publicly that the border police would be excluded from the armed forces.

This is an important development in that the border police is an elite force consisting mainly of Wehrmacht veterans. The unit numbers 20,000 men and long has been undergoing hard field exercises having slight resemblance to the training of a police force.

Employment of the border police as a cadre for the new infantry will make it immeasurably more difficult for Blank to build an army on the "citizen soldier" pattern. The border police veterans have been politically screened and without doubt are politically reliable and highly professional military men.

But, with all this said, they remain products of the Prussian military tradition, and their inclusion in the new infantry is going to give a jolt to Blank's dedicated reformers. It may well be, in fact, that the influence of these Wehrmacht old pros will even be decisive. After all, they number 20,000, or approximately a fifth of the 100,000 career soldiers, airmen and sailors Blank intends to sign up.

And, building on the border police as a base, the Bonn military planners will be able to assemble the new German forces much faster than would otherwise be possible. A fast military build-up is just the thing that many Germans fear most.

The speed-up in German rearmament unfortunately coincides with a sharp trend to the political right. Militarism plus political extremism is a poisonous brew anywhere, but doubly so in Germany.

Drive in, Said the Spider

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

THE "drive-in" trend has gone a long way toward making it possible for Americans to live without getting out of their cars. There are drive-in restaurants, drive-in theatres, drive-in banks, curbside mail boxes, and drive-in laundries, either for clothes or the car itself.

Now a community in South Carolina has carried municipal service a step further. The city of Camden is building what may be the first drive-in jail. Bluecoats will not have to struggle up the police station steps with a resisting drunk; patrol cars will drive down a ramp and deposit prisoners at the cell door—more out of consideration for the policeman's dignity than for the offender.

If they keep moving up the joyous season every year the stores will soon be featuring Santa Claus costumes in tropical worsted.

It should be understood that under Ford's new plan of public ownership of the company, the share of stock will be optional equipment, available at slight additional cost.

The idea of drive-in service is still capable of added possibilities. If everyone drove sport cars perhaps there would be supermarkets in which one could pick up the canned soups and ready mixes from his bucket seat instead of pushing a wire cart.

Mother probably thinks school has become pretty much of a drive-in service considering the rainy days she deposits the small fry at the school door. But we know a young chap who will not be convinced the ultimate has arrived until he can drive into one end of the college campus in his convertible and out the other with an education.

Tun, Fact and Fiction

A woman who had been sending food packages to relatives in Europe for years recently received a letter from the recipients asking her to include some reducing pills.

The trouble with trying to understand the younger generation is that, by the time you do, it's no longer the younger generation.

It is disturbing to contemplate what will happen when Germany's nationalists, armed with a new Versailles Treaty issue, begin rattling the new German armed forces in support of their demands for reunification and restoration of Germany's war lost eastern territories.

But, as the Germans point out—and quite rightly—whatever they do seems ominous to wide sections of foreign opinion. If they take their time rearming, their critics abroad accuse them of the intent to renege on their NATO commitments. If they rearm in a hurry, they are accused of planning to restore Prussian militarism.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

THERE has lately been another uprising in parts of Canada against dirty literature. Salacious literature has always existed. The classics of Greek and Latin are full of it. Dr. Rabelais, in French you can hardly read today, was a vividly translated into English, where they already had some pretty rowdy literature of their own, back in 1650. Spanish, Italian, Arabic, Russian, there is scarcely a tongue but in which classics abound that give that sly look to those PhD's who are expert in those languages.

But life, for all the pretty romance that has been wrapped around it by artists and fanciful historians, was rough and coarse in those bygone days as the bread they ate, or the cloth they wore or the straw beds they slept in under unwashed blankets. We can forgive them for being a little coarse in the mind, in their lighter moments. It went with their surroundings.

Whom we can't forgive are our contemporary novelists. They are just plain lazy. Or ungifted. They can't see life. Here we have cities with mile upon mile of streets full of quiet, decent, busy, generally happy homes. Think of them. Follow in your mind's eye your trip home this very day: the endless blocks of them, the quiet homes, the tens of thousands of them, the millions of them in the cities and towns of this continent. Life is in them. The overwhelming life of our world. But put a Hemingway or a Faulkner—let alone any of the lesser scribblers who pour out the season's batch of minor best sellers in either the paperback or the cloth novels—in any one of those blocks; or better take him for a walk for three hours up and down block after block of those streets that, well-to-do, shabby, house the overwhelming majority of us; and ask them to go cracking and give us a story of real life, as it is really lived by that overwhelming majority. They couldn't do it. They have never done it.

They have to seek out, with a factory rather than literary gifts, one house in each block that has drunk in it, or a twisted character of some poor sort. They have to run away from all the plain streets a down into the little slums, (and there are little, if you take a good look at your town's street guide!), a the night spots, and the trouble flats, with the pathetic artiness, our restless fringe. And out of all material, they make masterpieces.

If we had any real novelists in time, they would make masterpieces of the humdrum.

For that, dear friends, is life.

Hard on Pensioners

The letter of Nov. 19 by Clarence Goode on the subject of fuel tax is very timely.

There is a community here of 40 or more homes that are all-electric-fitted whose tenants are old-age pensioners. Most of them have phones, which are needed where there are sick people. These accounts are subject to the 5% tax.

This is one source where Mr. Bennett derives his $20,000,000 surplus. Maybe our Victoria member, Mr. George

It's Their Own Money

Allow me to commend your article under the heading "Illogical and Unfair" in the Colonist of Nov. 19.

If, as you say, our federal ministers have repeatedly stated that the old-age pensions have been purchased during their working lifetime, then the recipients surely have the right to dispose of the monies whenever and wherever they like. It is my understanding that no restrictions are placed against such pensions in Britain.

It would be very interesting to learn what our legislature and also your readers have to say upon this subject.

What's a Million?

Being a constant reader of both the Victoria Colonist and the Vancouver Province, I just want to know who is right, or is it that the boys supposed to be doing a man's job at Victoria had the old "what's a million between friends" policy?

The reason I ask is that on Oct. 28 the Colonist carried a story, and I have no doubt the Province did too, that Premier Bennett told the women's auxiliary of the Soerds that the government would spend $20,000,000 on highways next year. Then on Nov. 18 I see a story in the Province that says Public Works Minister Gagliardi said that the government would spend $84,000,000 on highways next year.

Just who is right here, or is it the old story that Premier Bennett does not know what his cabinet ministers are doing, as was shown only too clearly in the milk inquiry?

Hospital Praised

I was pleased to read a letter in your paper by a correspondent speaking highly of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

I would also like to express my appreciation for the efficient way this hospital is conducted. I spent several weeks as a patient last summer and had ample opportunity to observe what was being done.

Everything possible was done to make the patients comfortable. I cannot speak too highly of the nurses and orderlies. In fact all the staff, including the X-ray department, were extremely courteous. The food was excellent, and I would like to stress upon the hygiene. Everything possible was done to prevent infection.

Personally I feel I owe a debt of thanks to the administrator, the matron and the staff I came in contact with, and I think we should give credit where credit is due.

The Never-Ending War

It seems to me that all the varying manifestations of human conflict, even including world wars, stem from this war between the sexes, which so many of these modern fiction writers and magazine publishers are so bent on perpetuating. Apparently they load themselves down with gold by catering to the savage pride of the most brutal elements of the population.

I am not advocating any form of literary censorship, which can be a boomerang, but merely the right of humanitarians to disagree with, and even to deprecate, this anti-pacifist propaganda.

Welfare of the Ship

Does it not seem unfortunate that the old political parties sinking into oblivion seem to find it impossible to see the handwriting on the wall? No party can succeed for to pieces with internal strife. Persons selfish and ambitious for political power are in fact traitors to their organization.

A leader can only be one who can eliminate self to a minimum. Pomposity and pride of being a party leader is a fatal fallacy. As a leading principle of a cause or party it should be obvious that the party, not the individual, has to be placed always in the forefront.

I could name certain leaders of both the old parties whose individuality endeared them to the common people with whom they came in contact. These were the outstanding leaders who kept the old parties functioning for a decade. Unfortunately such individuals have disappeared or been blocked from being able to demonstrate their value.

New parties now in the field would find it well to remember that the cause is everything and that the individual captaining or leading that cause should first of all consider the welfare of the ship.

Uncontrolled Birth Rate Threat to World

BY ROBERT MUSEL.

LONDON (UP) — Lord Simon of Wythenshawe charged yesterday a "conspiracy of silence" to conceal from the world a threat more grave than that posed by the cold war or the hydrogen bomb.

The threat, he said, is the birth rate.

The population of the world increases by more than 88,000 every day. This means an increase of 31,900,000 a year. In 1960 there were about 2,000,000,000 human beings on the earth. By 2000 AD there will be about 5,000,000,000. The world is increasing its population with no regard for the fact that few countries can adequately support new population. Lord Simon said, "The millions of new mouths to feed and millions of new bodies to clothe are setting up 'dangerous pressures' around the world."

Lord Simon headed a group of "distinguished natural and social scientists" who just completed a two-year survey of "world population and resources." With publication of their findings, Lord Simon let go with an attack on what he believes is a deliberate attempt to ignore the birth rate dilemma.

"You can't even get public bodies like the United Nations to discuss overpopulation even though it is a matter of unparalleled urgency," he said. "Why? I suppose because control of birth cuts across some religious and folk beliefs."

Lord Simon said he was an old man and comfortably off so he didn't have to worry about the consequences of handing out touchy information.

"So I can say birth control is the only solution I see for the dilemma which is rapidly advancing upon the world. I hope some way can be found to do this acceptable to all the main religions," he said.

He urged a large-scale research project to find "the perfect pill" which would render human beings sterile for periods of about a month. Only such a pill, he said, could reduce the birth rate among people too ignorant or too lazy to use other methods.

Critics of Lord Simon's views claim the way to keep ahead of the population increase is to put more land under cultivation, press ahead with development of synthetic foods, and have the rich countries help the poor with money food and technical assistance.

For these critics Lord Simon has these answers:

1—Theory and experience flatly contradict the contention you can win a race against rising population by such projects.

2—There is almost no possibility that manufactured food will lead during the next 25 years to a supply of food-stuffs sufficient to affect the world food problem.

3—As to help from rich countries to poor ones, he cites the case of Puerto Rico. "The United States gave its island more generous aid than any metropolitan country has ever allocated to any other colony." Result: Population doubled, the living standard went up hardly at all, and population pressure sent thousands of Puerto Ricans to the American mainland as immigrants.

Chlorination End Opposed

The Victoria Esquimalt Union Board of Health went on record yesterday as opposing an end to chlorination of the area water supply.

Mayor Claude L. Harrison said recently that a move to end chlorination could be expected after the spring run-off of next year.

The board received from Elwood Gropp, chief sanitary inspector, a report that 41 per cent of tests at the Japan Gulch city water intake in 1955 showed the presence of intestinal bacteria; almost 18 per cent at the Humpback reservoir city intake, and almost 17 per cent at the Humpback Sookie supply.

Mr. Gropp said the standard of the U.S. Public Health Service, for water to be considered safe for human consumption, required that not more than 10 per cent of samples tested should be positive.

Mr. Gropp said it was interesting to note that after chlorination, tests of the drinking water taken from city taps showed only four portions of 1955 were positive.

Empty Beds Hope Of Two Hospitals

Interested in empty beds as a result of a successful Safe Driving Day Thursday are emergency wards of St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee hospitals.

Those specialized departments each receive about 1,000 emergency visits every month.

During the past 24 hours, the hospitals treated 4,500 accident cases, including those from traffic causes, pedestrians falling on streets, and home causes.

Break-In, Theft Charged to Youth

Vernon M. Rhoule, 18, of 453 Eva, Saanich, was charged yesterday with break-in and theft from a Saanich home and a 14-year-old companion was held in the same case.

Rhoule was charged with a break-in at 1579 Hawthorne on Sunday, involving alleged theft of carpenter's tools valued at $250.

He was remanded without plea until Thursday in Saanich court.

The boy said to have accompanied him will appear in juvenile court today.

Plans of Arthur Knapp to proceed on a trip through the United States, advertising Victoria, cost him an added $250 in city court yesterday.

He forgot his parking meter ticket when he attempted to pay the $1 fine, and his wife forgot subsequent instructions to pay the fine; he overlooked a summons to court and appeared yesterday after he had been arrested by a court order.

Knapp paid the fine.

Two motorists were fined $35 when they pleaded guilty to careless driving charges in city court.

Police said Wong Wah Chong, 547 Herald, pulled out from a curb, without a hand signal, and was involved in a collision causing $300 damage.

Rolf Lien Stebeck, 1430 Pembroke, was last in line in a rear-end collision that involved three cars on Pandora Nov. 21. The cars ahead stopped in a line of traffic. Damage was $400.

Saanich youth, Ronald A. Starck, 10, of 1873 Granville, was placed on one year's probation.

Safe Driving Day Begins Tomorrow; Victoria on Test

Three kinds of persons are responsible for traffic accidents—men, women and children. Starting tonight throughout the city will be put to the test by their own efforts—to prevent traffic accidents for a 24-hour period.

The occasion is S.D. Day—Safe Driving Day—being conducted in Canada by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference with support of Prime Minister St. Laurent, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and national wide law enforcement agencies.

For drivers the safety commandment today is, "Treat other drivers and pedestrians as human beings; be courteous."

For pedestrians: "Consider the drivers, they too have problems."

Provincial co-ordinator of S.D. Day, George Lindsay, is urging that none leave responsibility to someone else.

Superintendent of motor vehicles and thus a dealer in statistics, he reminds motorists and pedestrians that until Sept. 30 there had been 14,677 accidents, 5,500 injuries and 148 traffic fatalities from traffic causes.

DAMAGE HIGH
Property damage was a mountainous $5,587,028.

Greater Victoria police chiefs state that enforcement of traffic laws will not be emphasized for this day. Instead, they hope infractions will be lower because of better observance of safe driving.

Saanich Police Chief Josiah Bull said in an S.D. Day message he hopes this national safety day will "inspire drivers and pedestrians to assume their individual and personal responsibility for highway safety."

"Give full attention to driving and walking; practise the fundamentals of safe driving by keeping two hands on the wheel and attention on the road, keep windshields and windows clean and clear, and be alert to traffic conditions well ahead of and around cars," Chief Bull said.

Victoria police department, which investigates an average of 3.2 traffic accidents reported each day, lists 10 points as potential dangerous driving. The department says DON'T:

Use excessive speed, especially at night, in bad weather and in heavy traffic.

Pass several cars at once; Follow too closely; Weave and suddenly change lanes.

Make sudden stops; Turn from the wrong lane; Pass on the right, except where permitted.

Move through traffic lights on the amber signal; Use "jackrabbit" starts at traffic lights or compete with other drivers;

And do not fail to observe stop signs or full stops at intersections. All police departments stress mechanical safety of vehicles, particularly brakes.

HUMAN ERROR
Police records disclose that 85 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents are due to human behavior. Split personalities are apparent, such as the male who normally apologizes for jostling a person on the street but becomes a road hog, oblivious of others while he is behind the wheel.

Officials hope that with co-operation, today's safe driving and walking habits will become the year-round rule, not the one-day exception.

GREAT TREES
Teak trees in Burma sometimes reach a height of 120 feet from the ground to the lowest branch.

Lots of Faces, No Goal

Regina goalie Lucien Dechene, who just missed a shutout at Memorial Arena last night when Regals downed Cougars, 4-1, couldn't have had his eyes shut all night. But shut they are in this picture as he holds puck in goalmouth scramble. Cougars' Colin Kilburn, who spoiled shutout late in third period, is somewhere between hope and disappointment while a couple of intent Regina defencemen try to take him out of further play.

Cougar Skein Extended As Regal Streak Ended

By JIM TANG

Victoria's slumping Cougars last night dropped below .500 hockey for the first time this season when they took a 4-1 thumping from the much more alert Regina Regals at Memorial Arena.

About 2,400 fans watched as the Cougars had their winless streak extended to five games by a club which hasn't had too much success so far this season but which last night was about as much better as the score indicates.

Cougars have won only three points from their last eight games and only defeats handed the third-place New Westminster Royals and the fourth-place Seattle Americans in last night's other games kept the Victoria club momentarily safe in second place in the Western Hockey League.

Once again, the Cougars weren't skating and their positional play left a lot to be desired. They passed badly and were too inclined to bank away at Lucien Dechene from well out. They were outlucked a couple of times before the Regals winged to a 3-0 lead in the second period but were never in the picture after Regina had its second goal.

HUSTLING CHECKING
As is usual in a bad game, the puck bounced and rolled badly for the Cougars and made them look even worse. But they became disorganized at times under the hustling checking of the more eager Royals and failed to get any cohesion into their efforts to find the nets behind Dechene although they actually outshot the Regals, 23-15, in the first two periods.

By contrast, the Regals were right on their toes. They outskated the Victoria club throughout, played alert and hustling hockey and clearly deserved their margin.

BREAK STREAK
It was the first win of Regal's first coast trip, which concludes tonight at New Westminster, and broke a four-game winless streak. The two points tied them with Saskatoon for fourth place in the Eastern Division.

Three smart goals, all coming off quick passing plays, by the Regina line of Bill Kyle, Senick and rookie Gord Stratton, sank the Cougars in the second

Flyers Shake Slump; Trim Americans, 9-2

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Flyers moved into a second-place tie in the Prairie division of the Western Hockey League with the idle Winnipeg Warriors Tuesday night with a 9-2 win over Seattle Americans.

Flyers scored three goals in each period for the balanced win before 2,300 fans. Both Seattle goals came late in the third period to spoil a potential shutout for Gilles Boisvert in the Edmonton nets.

It was an important win for the Flyers, who had only a tie to show for their last five games.

Seattle coach Billy Reay was missing from the players' box suffering from an attack of flu. Flies flew at the 17:42 mark of the third period following a penalty to Flyer captain Steve Hymnak. Seattle forward Eddie Dorohoy tangled with Flyer Pete Wright, and both sat out two-minute penalties for roughing.

Late Canuck Splurge Boosts Division Lead

Vancouver Canucks increased their lead in the Western division of the Western Hockey League to seven points last night by running their winning streak to four games.

Canucks came on in the last four minutes to score three goals to edge out New Westminster Royals, 7-5.

Ahead by 4-2 at one time in the second period, the Canucks saw the Royals score before the middle period was over and twice more in the first eight minutes of the final period to go ahead, 5-4.

Ray Cyr tied it at 16:07, Fred Brown won it at 17:15 and Phil Maloney made certain at 19:31.

Royals' Bob Love tied line-mate Blinky Boyce for the league scoring lead by getting three assists while Boyce had a goal and assist. Maloney moved within one point of the lead by getting his 17th and 18th goals and an assist to boost his point total to 35.

Esk Fans Remembered Piano-Playing Fireman

WINNIPEG (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos, waiting for him at Vancouver football fans didn't forget Al Ver—no piano—strings attached.

The piano-playing CPR fireman from Schreiber, Ont., who last year was "captured" by Edmonton fans bound for Toronto and the Grey Cup, passed through Winnipeg Monday night after seeing his second Grey Cup game.

Last year, Bourk boarded a Grey Cup Special at Schreiber to go a short way up the line. A piano was aboard and Al started playing. The fans wouldn't let him off the train until it reached Toronto. He saw the game at his expense, then on the way back he played for more than 30 hours at a stretch as they made him stay aboard until they got back to Edmonton.

This year Bourk received a letter from the Edmonton football club. It told him there was a Grey Cup ticket, courtesy of the Eskimo club, for him and Al (Murder) Mills.

Ray Retains Record; Won't Predict Victory

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson refused to predict Tuesday that he would beat middleweight boxing commissioner, watched champion Carl (Bobo) Olson Dec. 9 at Chicago, but he said "I'm two up on him and I'll be trying for three."

"I've never predicted I would win a fight in 16 years, the former 160-pound titleholder said. "But I've done my best in all of them. I've never put on a bad fight, and I'm going to do my best in this one."

"His timing isn't bad," Radzienda said. "And he is boxing well. Nardiello said his ankle was completely healed and he is boxing on his toes. He couldn't do that if he was suffering any pain."

Players Get Added Incentive To Win All-Star Grid Clash

TORONTO (CP)—The added incentive of more money for the winners is being put up to ensure that the East-West Shrine all-star football game is a smashing success. The money is at stake on top of the prestige involved. The players are not under the same pressure as if the Grey Cup was the prize, but the East-West theme, along with the knowledge that extra money is involved, is expected to generate plenty of desire among both teams to emerge as the winner Saturday.

(Peashead) Walker of Montreal Alouettes and Frank (Pop) Ivy of Edmonton Eskimos, will receive $1,000 each and their assistants, Jimmy Dunn of the Al's and Al Sherman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, $500 each. The total outlay for the players, the coaches and the trainers and managers of both teams is expected to be about $25,000.

Total receipts from the gate and the television and radio rights are expected to total about $300,000 if Varsity Stadium is filled to its capacity of 27,000. Net proceeds of the game, sponsored by The Toronto Star Weekly, are to be divided between the Shrine's hospitals for crippled children in Winnipeg and Montreal.

The field should be in good shape. The tarpaulin that the University of Toronto bought from the Canadian Rugby Union was laid Monday and will not be taken up until Saturday morning.

The full eastern lineup of 28 players held their first workouts Tuesday on the back campus of the University of Toronto. Walker, who has coached teams in six all-star games in the United States, had the squad out both in the morning and afternoon in crisp, cold weather.

Over in Hamilton where the western team is quartered, Sherman also held two practice sessions.

Before he left Edmonton, Ivy announced fullback Johnny Bright of the Eskis would replace centre Kurt Burris in the western lineup. Burris, brilliant two-way lineman with the Eskimos, was reported ill with intestinal flu.

The addition of Bright will enable Ivy to field Edmonton's entire first-string backfield that ran over Montreal in the Grey Cup game. Quarterback Jackie Parker and halfbacks Normie Kwong, Rolfe Miles and Earl Lindley were named to the western team earlier.

COWBOYS IN SUN BOWL
EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—The University of Wyoming Cowboys, winners of seven of nine games this season, today were selected to play Texas Tech. Border Conference champion, in the Sun Bowl game.

Empire Stadium Favored Vancouver May Go Through It All Again

VANCOUVER (UP)—A strong "return to Vancouver" movement appeared in the works in Canadian football Tuesday after receipts from Saturday's Grey Cup game showed it to be by far the richest in the 47-year history of the gridiron classic.

An all-time record of $285,000 in gross receipts was estimated for the game, in which the Edmonton Eskimos retained their Grey Cup championship with a 34-19 victory over the Montreal Alouettes.

The receipts compared favorably to the previous all-time high of $198,748 set last year in Toronto.

The Canadian Rugby Union will decide on the site of the 1956 game at its annual meeting in Toronto in March. No other city, however, is expected to be able to ensure the financial success that the

At the Harry Young 19th

CHRISTMAS TREE ENTRIES. Entry forms for the Christmas Tree golf tournament will be published in The Daily Colonist on Sunday, Dec. 11. I am mentioning this today, because a year ago a number of late entrants had to be left out.

Some of them thought they did not have sufficient warning, and this time I want everyone to have a fair chance of making an entry for the Tuesday, Dec. 27, event.

Owing to the short hours of daylight the competition has to be confined to 90 men and 90 ladies.

The men's event, as last year when the winner was Frank Scroggs, will be at the Victoria Golf Club.

This time we are including the ladies, and they will play at Oplands, with everyone getting together in the Victoria club after the contest for the prize-giving.

The tournament is open to all golfers who are amateurs and who have a recognized handicap. In the case of ladies they must be in possession of a C.L.G.U. handicap.

There will be lots of prizes, and if the weather behaves we ought to have a lot of fun.

But remember, the entry form will appear in the Colonist on Sunday, Dec. 11, and it will be a matter of first come, first accepted.

MEDAL DUE THIS WEEK. Provided Royal Colwood course is playable the second round of the first Victoria and district winter medal, postponed three weeks ago, will be played Sunday. The original draw for partners will apply.

COLWOOD TOOK ON TOO MUCH. The match between Colwood and the Rest on Sunday proved that although the club with the regal handle is strong in talent it is not quite good enough to take on the rest of the city.

Actually Colwood weakened its chances when it increased the number of participants from six to eight. The Rest, with a nigger field from which to choose, had the advantage in this change, and it was significant perhaps that the seventh and eighth rated members of the Rest side were the only ones to take the full points from their opponents.

However, although the 10½ to 1½ match margin robbed the game of a dramatic finish, the contest was well worth while and infused a pleasant inter-club rivalry that in the long run should be good for the sport in this city.

It might be a good idea to continue on this theme, and maybe if Colwood want to get their own back, they should suggest a new form of inter-club competition, with each of the four clubs in the area putting a four-man team in the field.

The games could be played either as knockout match competition, with semi-finals one week and the final the next, or it could be on a medal play basis.

LOWERED CHALLENGE PRESTIGE. My friend, golf architect and stickler for the golfing rules, A. V. Macan, raised the one sultry note during Sunday's challenge match play.

Mac objected to the players going out in fours for the singles matches in the afternoon session. This may have been friendly and jolly, but the games developed into unofficial four-ball matches and, in effect, this lowered the prestige of the contest.

Even in the matter of teeing off, the honor appeared to go by the four-ball partnerships rather than by the singles results.

Mr. Macan, I second your objection.

MERRIMAN FIGHTS WELL. Here are some of the interesting points I picked up from Sunday's play.

More than ever was I impressed by Johnnie Merriman's fighting spirit. He holed outrageous putts at the eighth and ninth against poor Vince Clarkson, who looked to have the first half of the passau tied up at that point.

There was "Best of Luck" Vic Painter in a tight match with George Bigelow looking almost certain to take the lead at the 16th when the Doc pushed his second shot into a greenside trap. But Vic three-putted, missing the second from rather under two feet. It cost him the match, for Bigelow won the 17th and finished one up.

For clean, straight, big hitting I saw none better than Hugh Morrison and Laurie Carroll. At most holes they were getting up even farther than Bob Morrison, who, although he hasn't been playing much recently, is still hitting them a mile.

Carroll's double win in singles and foursomes was a nice incentive for the popular young Victoria club assistant pro. Laurie, like other pros in the district, does not get much chance of competitive play.

Speaking Briefly

Rich Canadian Offers May Tempt Cassidy

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, Ohio State's brilliant halfback, stated last night he has received "some pretty fabulous offers" to play professional football in Canada next season.

Drafted Monday by Detroit Lions of the National Football League, Cassidy has decided to wait until spring before deciding about a pro football career and indicated the Lions may have to bid high to get his services.

A baseball career is also possible for Cassidy, who batted .327 while playing centre field last season.

Cassidy, who has been called by his coach "the greatest football player of this century," Tuesday was selected as the winner of the Heisman Memorial Trophy, which is awarded annually to the outstanding college football player in the United States.

FRICK DENIES REPORTS.—A story in a New York newspaper stating that major league club owners were toying with the idea of suspending operations for one year because baseball was being "harassed by the department of justice" was labelled as "nonsensical" by commissioner Ford Frick last night.

Clair Goodwin, president of the Pacific Coast League, said last that he would follow through with his planned resignation as soon as a few important league matters were attended to.

NASHUA FOR SALE?—Dan Parker, sports editor of the New York Daily Mirror, reports that Nashua, recently voted the "horse of the year," will be sold at auction along with other turf interests of the late William Hashim is recognized as world's champion at both the British and American games while the other two are rated as close runners-up.

A few tickets are still available for those wishing to watch the trio in action and may be obtained by phoning George Evans at 3-1101 or 7-2860.

COWBOYS IN SUN BOWL

Vocal, Instrumental Artists Highlight Fine Choir Concert

By BERT BENNY
Victoria Masonic Choir was featured in an impressive concert presented by the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health.

The Masonic Choir was assisted by Ruth Chapman, soprano, and Bernard Bain, violinist, accompanied respectively by George H. Peaker and Dorothy Francis.

There seemed to be some acoustic troubles, translatable to the audience rather than the performers.

Somebody's Welcome to These Clothes

Some little boys never grow out of their clothes. They wear out of their clothes. Not so Russell, 5, and Dusty, 3, sons of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Johnson, 616 Esquimalt road. They have all sorts of clothes—some nearly new—shirts, trousers, coats, pyjamas, which they want to give to other little boys about a year younger or smaller than themselves. "If we could just find someone who needs them," their mother, Hazel, told The Daily Colonist, "we'd all be very happy."

Annihilation of Israel Foreseen

Policies of Kremlin, U.K. Under Fire by Ben-Gurion

Arabs Set For War

DAMASCUS, Syria (UP)—The commander of the combined Egyptian-Syrian military force said Tuesday the two Arab nations are prepared to wage a "war of liberation" against Israel if public opinion demands it.

Spider's Cronies Jailed

LONDON (Reuters)—A London detective and two other men were sentenced to jail Tuesday for taking evidence in a vain bid to clear a burglar.

Detective sergeant James Robertson, 40, and Ben Canter, 49, a lawyer, got two years each. The third man, Morris (Spider) Page, 38, described by the judge, Lord Chief Justice Goddard, as "just a common crook," was given a 13-month term.

They were said to have cooked up a defence for a Maltese, Joseph Grech, who was found with a key to burgled premises. Robertson was said to have been bribed to lend Canter and Page the key so that they could have a look fitted to Grech's own door which it would open. Grech was in fact jailed but his statements in prison sparked off new inquiries.

JERUSALEM (CP)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion Tuesday accused Britain and Russia of pursuing policies "liable to bring about the destruction of the state of Israel."

He claimed in parliament that arms supplied to Egypt by Britain and Russia "will be used only against Israel," and said Egypt's goal is "the annihilation of Israel."

"Both Britain and the Soviet Union are aware of Prime Minister Nasser's political aims," he said.

PROTEST DEBATE

Ben-Gurion, premier and defence minister, made his statement in reply to a motion by Communist party leader Shmuel Mikunis, who asked for a foreign affairs debate in protest against an interview given by the premier last week to the London Observer correspondent. In the interview, Israel's elder statesman was quoted as sharply criticizing the Middle East policy of the Kremlin and the British foreign office.

Suburban, Country Price Will Increase on Dec. 1

Effective Thursday, Dec. 1, the suburban and country subscription price of The Daily Colonist will be increased 25 cents a month.

The increase will bring the country circulation rate to $1.50, the same as city subscribers pay and in line with the Mainland newspaper prices. First collection at the new price will be made at the end of December.

Street sale and store sale price of individual copies of the Colonist is being increased in all areas from seven cents to 10 cents on weekdays and from 10 cents to 14 cents on Sundays. The new prices will be effective on Thursday.

The decision to make the increase is the direct result of continually rising production costs, and the recent rise in the price of newsprint.

The new price is in keeping with the trend developing in other west coast centres.

Carrier boys will benefit from the new price. Mail rates are also affected and a new schedule of rates will be found on page 5.

Triplets Feared Dead

Children Home for Lunch Killed When Jet Crashes into Houses

Toll May Reach 15 At Alaska Air Base

EIELSON AIR FORCE BASE, Alaska (UP)—At least nine, and possibly 15, persons—most of them women and children—were killed Tuesday when an F-84F Thunderjet howled into a row of family dwellings here and exploded. Many children were home from school for lunch when disaster struck.

Maj. John Orr, public information officer, said nine bodies had been removed from the ruins of six apartment buildings struck by the plane shortly before 1 p.m.

"The death toll could go as high as 15 persons. That is our original estimate of the dead," Orr said. The body of the pilot was among those recovered from one of the wrecked and burned apartment buildings. No accurate count of the injured could be made because they had been dispersed to several hospitals.

The pilot was identified as 1st Lt. Alfred E. Pounders, 28, of Monticello, Miss. The other dead are believed to be civilians, including triplets born last year.

The triplets were listed among the missing and were known to be in the front room of one of the houses when the plane, roaring along at 150 miles an hour after a takeoff, struck that section of the housing unit.

Their parents are believed to be Sgt. and Mrs. William Fimple, both listed among the injured.

"Our best estimate of the injured," Orr said, "is another eight to 10 persons."

The plane had just taken off when it veered suddenly due to a control failure, skidded over base headquarters and slammed into the housing project. It tore through one eight-family unit, ripping it from one end to the other. There was an explosion and fire.

Fred A. Sorri, a civilian plumber who had just finished an installation in one of the buildings shattered by the plane, said the plane "bounced off the roofs of two buildings, settling there alive, and then plunged right through one structure."

"It literally knocked four apartments right out of the building."

"There were bathtubs and plumbing fixtures resting a half block away with the ruins of the jet aircraft."

"An enlisted man, not identified by the air force, told Orr:

"The plane came very low, right over the headquarters building where I was working. We knew it was in trouble. You could tell by the way it sounded."

"We saw a big puff of smoke and flame. Then the whole headquarters building shook, following a tremendous explosion."

"Flames and smoke were pouring out of the windows and doors of the buildings hit by the plane. Wreckage was scattered all around."

It was a bitterly cold day—26 below zero.

Firemen evacuated the survivors and as many personal belongings as possible before the fire got out of control. Survivors, mostly women and children, stood by weeping as firemen fought to control the fire. The flames were extinguished at 4 p.m.

ALL-NIGHT SEARCH

The mopping-up and search of the buildings was expected to continue through the night.

Sorri also told about finding a sewing machine about 400 feet from one of the buildings. "It was in one of the apartments where I worked yesterday," he said. "There was a woman and her three daughters in the apartment. I don't know about them today."

A helicopter shuttle service was set up between Eielson and Ladd air force base to take the injured to hospitals.

World's End Possible Says Campney

VANCOUVER (CP)—The hydrogen bomb and long-range bombing plane have brought on the possibility that a third world war could mean world destruction, Defence Minister Ralph Campney told a Liberal rally here Tuesday night.

Faure Pulls Switch, Election Possible

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure lost a confidence vote in the National Assembly Tuesday night. But instead of resigning, as is customary, his cabinet is considering dissolving the assembly. This would make new elections necessary.

A final decision on resignation or dissolution was put over until a cabinet meeting today. Unofficial reports following a meeting of Faure's ministers Tuesday night said a majority favored dissolution.

Faure has been campaigning for early elections. Dissolution of the assembly is possible under a constitutional provision that has never been applicable in any of France's previous post-war governments.

Comet III Pleases BOAC

LONDON (AP)—A British jet airliner, the Comet III, made a test flight of 3,300 miles in seven hours, 22 minutes preparatory to a Friday morning takeoff for Australia, it was announced Tuesday.

Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of British Overseas Airways Corporation, said the test flight was "further vindication of our faith in the Comet IV of which we have some 30 aircraft on order."

BOAC, which pioneered with the ill-fated Comet I, plans to put the Comet IV—an advanced version of the Comet III—into fleet operation in 1958.

"They will then once again put Britain in the lead in jet-propelled civil aviation," Thomas said.

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL

Huge Fund Raised

Churchill at 81 Hears Happy News

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill, 81 today, received the news Tuesday night that a special birthday presentation fund subscribed in his honor from all parts of the world has reached a total of £29,175.

More than 300,000 people contributed. The fund was opened before his 80th birthday. A year ago, as part of the world celebrations of this event, Churchill received "an interim payment" of £150,000.

The statesman made it known that he proposed to devote the fortune subscribed to starting a charitable trust, though part of the money will go to endowing his country home, Chartwell, in Kent, as a museum containing relics of his life.

Tuesday night's announcement of the total was made by Edward Martell, chairman of the fund. He added that a book containing the names of all contributors shortly will be presented to Churchill. Churchill is planning to spend today quietly with only a small family luncheon party to mark the occasion.

But around his household, there was a scene of bustle Tuesday. There was a constant succession of delivery trucks bringing presents from numerous countries.

Postmen and telegraph messengers piled to and from his home in fashionable Hyde Park Gate with loads of letters, cards and greetings telegrams.

And in Soho, London's "Latin Quarter," a famous "pastry cook" unveiled his latest creation in the series of Churchill birthday cakes.

The cake, work of Christopher Florin, who has made this special collection for Churchill birthdays for years past, stands about two feet high and weighs about 25 pounds.

He had designed a completely different cake, and scrapped it on the news last week that Churchill had received the freedom of Harrow, site of the famous school where the former prime minister received his early education.

Teacher Kept In By Uncle

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Abraham Krislavim, under-secretary in the interior ministry during the Peron regime, had a unique method of raising his niece's marks in school. He ordered her teacher arrested.

This came to light Tuesday when a judge of the new Argentine provisional government ordered Krislavim tried for "illegal privation of freedom." Krislavim now is believed to be in Havana.

Insanity Awaits One in 12

CALGARY (CP)—One of every 12 children born this year will end up in a mental institution if the present trend continues, says Dr. S. R. Laycock, Canadian educationalist and psychologist and former dean of education of the University of Saskatchewan.

In an interview here today Dr. Laycock said that "in the next 50 years a high degree of emotional sturdiness will be needed in people than at any time in history."

"The tempo of change will be much greater and it's going to take a person with a great deal of emotional stability to handle the world."

Dr. Laycock said the real key to developing stable persons is a "better development of homes, home and school relationships and child teaching."

Jekyll-Hyde Tag Put On Boxer

NEW YORK (AP)—The $100,000 assault-damage suit against British boxer Randy Turpin went to trial Tuesday, and the former world middleweight champion was labelled a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" type.

The description came from J. Roland Sala, lawyer for Adelaide Daniels.

The boxer's lawyer, Sol Strauss, entered a general denial.

Miss Daniels claims Turpin overpowered her "by his superior physical and violent assaults." On the night he lost to Carl (Bobo) Olson two years ago, she says, he hit her because she refused his demands.

Cabinet Resigns

ANKARA (AP)—The entire 16-member cabinet of Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes resigned Tuesday night during an unceremonious meeting of Menderes' Democratic party.

Menderes himself did not resign and at the end of the seven-hour meeting was given a voice vote of confidence.

Temperance Rally Told

Nation's Liquor Laws 'Sabotaged'

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Temperance Federation resolved Tuesday to ask the United States Federal Communications Commission to put an end to the "sabotaging of Canadian anti-liquor advertising laws by broadcasts on Buffalo television and radio stations."

The federation, here for its annual meeting, adopted a suggestion by a U.S. temperance advocate, Dr. Caroline Hooton of Washington, D.C., that it help him do something about the problem.

It also heard a claim by Mrs. Ross Eaton of Sackville, N.B., that members of some Baptist women's groups are among the 64 per cent of Canadian women who drink.

Mrs. Eaton, wife of a Baptist minister, said: "I have even heard that members of our missionary societies are drinking. I was told by one friend that they are even giving cocktail parties."

Havoc in Times Square

Fire Test Roaring Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Fireman Henry Gartland, testing a Christmas window display in a Times Square tavern, proved beyond doubt Tuesday that the stuff it was made of would burn.

The results of Gartland's simple match test:

The bar and grill was gutted, with damage estimated at $20,000.

A sidewalk newsstand owned by a blind operator lost most of its stock in the blaze.

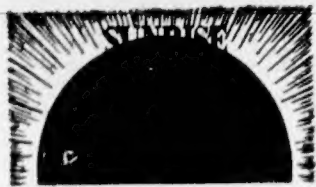

The three-story building was evacuated. Traffic was re-routed on busy 46th street. Acid smoke whipped across Times Square.

Battalion chief Raymond J. Ludwig and a fireman were seriously injured when a water-weakened ceiling fell on their heads after the fire was out. Gartland was burned on the hand.

Chief fire marshal Martin Scott said Gartland conducted the "usual inspection, routine."

Gartland waded up part of the Christmas decoration, given to the tavern by a liquor company, lit it with a match and then snuffed it out, he thought.

As he walked away the whole display window blazed up.

CHILDREN HOME FOR LUNCH KILLED BY JET

Somebody's Welcome to These Clothes

Some little boys never grow out of their clothes. They wear out of their clothes. Not so Russell, 5, and Dusty, 3, sons of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Johnson, 516 Esquimalt road. They have all sorts of clothes—some nearly new—shirts, trousers, coats, pyjamas, which they want to give to other little boys about a year younger or smaller than themselves. "If we could just find someone who needs them," their mother, Hazel, told The Daily Colonist, "we'd all be very happy."

Annihilation of Israel Foreseen

Policies of Kremlin, U.K. Under Fire by Ben-Gurion

JERUSALEM (CP)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion Tuesday accused Britain and Russia of pursuing policies "liable to bring about the destruction of the state of Israel."

He claimed in parliament that Egypt's goal is "the annihilation of Israel." "Both Britain and the Soviet Union are aware of Prime Minister Nasser's political aims," he said.

Ben-Gurion, premier and defence minister, made his statement in reply to a motion by Communist party leader Shmuel Mikunis, who asked for a foreign affairs debate in protest against an interview given by the premier last week to the London Observer correspondent.

Effective Thursday, December 1, the street sale and newsstand price of The Daily Colonist will be increased from seven cents to 10 cents on weekdays and from 10 cents to 14 cents on Sundays.

The carrier delivery price to subscribers in the city will not be changed. It remains at $1.50 per month.

The decision to make the increase is the direct result of continually rising production costs and the recent increase in the price of newsprint.

Street sale boys will benefit from the new price. (Mail rates are also affected and a new schedule of rates will be found on page 3.)

"Anyone who tries to justify arms supply to Egypt by any nation whatsoever is the servant of a foreign power hostile to Israel."

In further border outbreaks, advanced Egyptian outposts opened fire across the Gaza strip on an Israeli reconnaissance patrol traveling on the Israeli side of the boundary, an Israeli army spokesman said.

In a dispatch from Cairo, where British diplomatic representatives have been conducting talks with Arab leaders, the New York Times says a negotiated settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute "has become a tangible possibility for the first time since the 1948 Palestine war."

Death Toll May Hit 15 In Alaska Base Tragedy

EIELSON AIR FORCE BASE, Alaska (UP)—At least nine, and possibly 15, persons—most of them women and children—were killed Tuesday when an F-84F Thunderjet howled into a row of family dwellings here and exploded. Many children were home from school for lunch when disaster struck.

Maj. John Orr, public information officer, said nine bodies had been removed from the ruins of six apartment buildings struck by the plane shortly before 1 p.m.

"The death toll could go as high as 15 persons. That is our original estimate of the dead," Orr said.

The body of the pilot was among those recovered from one of the wrecked and burned apartment buildings. No accurate count of the injured could be made because they had been dispersed to several hospitals.

The pilot was identified as 1st Lt. Alfred E. Pounders, 28, of Monticello, Miss. The other dead are believed to be civilians, including triplets born last year.

The triplets were listed among the missing and were known to be in the front room of one of the houses when the plane, roaring along at 150 miles an hour after a takeoff, struck that section of the housing unit.

Their parents are believed to be Sgt. and Mrs. William Fimple, both listed among the injured. "Our best estimate of the injured," Orr said, "is another eight to 10 persons."

The plane had just taken off when it veered suddenly due to a control failure, skidded over base headquarters and slammed into the housing project. It tore through one eight-family unit, ripping it from one end to the other. There was an explosion and fire.

Fred A. Sorri, a civilian plumber who had just finished an installation in one of the buildings shattered by the plane, said the plane "bounced off the roofs of two buildings, setting them afire, and then plunged right through one structure."

"It literally knocked four apartments right out of the building. There were bathtubs and plumbing fixtures resting a half block away with the ruins of the jet aircraft."

An enlisted man, not identified by the air force, told Orr:

"The plane came very low, right over the headquarters building where I was working. We knew it was in trouble. You could tell by the way it sounded."

"We saw a big puff of smoke and flame. Then the whole headquarters building shook, following a tremendous explosion."

"Flames and smoke were pouring out of the windows and doors of the buildings hit by the plane. Wreckage was scattered all around."

It was a bitterly cold day—26 below zero.

Firemen evacuated the survivors and as many personal belongings as possible before the fire got out of control. Survivors, mostly women and children, stood by weeping as firemen fought to control the fire. The flames were extinguished at 4 p.m.

A helicopter shuttle service was set up between Eielson and Ladd air force base to take the injured to hospitals.

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL

Huge Fund Raised

Churchill at 81 Hears Happy News

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill, 81 today, received the news Tuesday night that a special birthday presentation fund subscribed in his honor from all parts of the world has reached a total of £250,175.

More than 300,000 people contributed. The fund was opened before his 80th birthday. A year ago, as part of the world celebrations of this event, Churchill received "an interim payment" of £150,000.

The statesman made it known that he proposed to devote the fortune subscribed to starting a charitable trust, though part of the money will go to endowing his country home, Chartwell, in Kent, as a museum containing relics of his life.

Tuesday night's announcement of the total was made by Edward Martell, chairman of the fund. He added that a book containing the names of all contributors shortly will be presented to Churchill.

Churchill is planning to spend today quietly with only a small family luncheon party to mark the occasion.

But around his household, there was a scene of bustle Tuesday. There was a constant succession of delivery trucks bringing presents from numerous countries.

Postmen and telegraph messengers plied to and from his home in fashionable Hyde Park Gate with loads of letters, cards and greetings telegrams.

And in Soho, London's "Latin Quarter," a famous pastry cook "unveiled" his latest creation in the series of Churchill birthday cakes.

The cake, work of Christopher Florin, who has made this special confection for Churchill birthdays for years past, stands about two feet high and weighs about 25 pounds.

He had designed a completely different cake, and scrapped it on the news last week that Churchill had received the freedom of Harrow, site of the famous school where the former prime minister received his early education.

Teacher Kept In By Uncle

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Abraham Kriklavim, under-secretary in the interior ministry during the Peron regime, had a unique method of raising his niece's marks in school. He ordered her teacher arrested.

This came to light Tuesday when a judge of the new Argentine provisional government ordered Kriklavim tried for "illegal privation of freedom." Kriklavim now is believed to be in Havana.

Jekyll-Hyde Tag Put On Boxer

NEW YORK (AP)—The $100,000 assault-damage suit against British boxer Randy Turpin went to trial Tuesday, and the former world middleweight champion was labelled a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" type.

The description came from J. Rhiand Sala, lawyer for Adele Daniels.

The boxer's lawyer, Sol Strauss, entered a general denial.

Mrs. Daniels claims Turpin overpowered her "by his superior physical and violent assaults." On the night he lost to Carl (Bobo) Olson two years ago, she says, he hit her because she refused his demands.

Red Ensign Assumed To Be National Flag

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Parliament for the formal adoption of a national flag. It is desirable to remove any doubt as to the propriety of flying the Canadian Red Ensign wherever place or occasion may make it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag.

A high government official said Tuesday he does not see how a flag whose use has been authorized by a government order-in-council can be considered anything but the official flag. The Red Ensign is the only flag Canada has at present, he said.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said he cannot discern any difference in the meaning of the words "distinctive" and "official" used in relation to the flag.

The two words came up in discussion of the flag question during the last session of the Commons following a speech by Immigration Minister Pickersgill.

Mr. Pickersgill said then: "There are many Canadians who seem to think we do not have a distinctive flag of our own at the present time. That is not true."

He said that was settled by an order-in-council passed by the federal cabinet Sept. 3, 1945.

"This order provides that, until such time as action is taken by

Young Hunter Found Safe In Mountains

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A 20-year-old hunter missing in the mountain area 20 miles northwest of here was found Tuesday in good condition by a forestry search party.

Donald Spiers was found in the Pass lake area, where more than 20 persons aided by jeeps joined in the search after the youth's father and partner heard three distress signals fired from a rifle late Sunday.

Temperance Rally Told

Nation's Liquor Laws 'Sabotaged'

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Temperance Federation resolved Tuesday to ask the United States Federal Communications Commission to put an end to the "sabotaging of Canadian anti-liquor advertising laws by beercasts on Buffalo television and radio stations."

The federation, here for its annual meeting, adopted a suggestion by a U.S. temperance advocate, Dr. Caroline Hooton of Washington, D.C., that it help him do something about the problem.

It also heard a claim by Mrs. Roas Eaton of Saskatoon, N.B., that members of some Baptist women's groups are among the 64 per cent of Canadian women who drink.

Mrs. Eaton, wife of a Baptist minister, said: "I have even heard that members of our missionary societies are drinking. I was told by one friend that they are even giving cocktail parties."

Dr. Hooton, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance in the U.S., said Monday night he is shocked to think that Ontario's "fine laws" on liquor and beer advertising are being weakened by programs originating in U.S. radio and television stations.

The government was defeated 318 to 218 on a procedural question growing out of Faure's demand that the assembly cut its life short by six months and go to the country in an early general election.

Many disputes which opposed the premier thought they were putting off elections for several months by voting to throw him out of office. But the big majority of the vote brought the hitherto unused constitutional provision into play.

This permits the cabinet to decide on dissolution if two governments are defeated within an 18-month period by more than half the members of the chamber.

Faure has been campaigning for early elections.

Dissolution of the assembly is possible under a constitutional provision that has never been applicable in any of France's previous post-war government crises. Faure's cabinet is the 21st since the Second World War.
